

Name

Essay Review/Prep

Which question are you going to answer? 1 or 2

Introduction: What is the minimum number of sentences an introduction can have? _____

- 1) In one word what is the first thing you should introduce for your question?

- 2) How many sentences do you need to take introducing that concept? _____

- 3) What is the middle step of the introduction? What should you do? How many sentences should it take?

- 4) Write down your claim (copy from 4 square notes).

Body Paragraphs:

- 1) What sentence determines the number of body paragraphs you need to have?

- 2) Body paragraphs always begin with a topic sentence. What is the purpose of a topic sentence?

- 3) Each quote needs to be introduced (discussed) and placed properly. There are four ways to correctly place quotes. What are they?

- a).
- b).
- c).
- d).

4) Your warrants need to analyze and interpret each piece of evidence. A warrant should not be fewer than three sentences. You need to explain what the quote shows and tell why/how it proves your topic sentence and claim. What does s/s/l/l stand for? How can you make it more interesting?

5) How many quotes/warrants should you have per body paragraph?

Conclusion:

6) What things must be included in a conclusion?

Goals:

Review your House on Mango Street paper. What are three specific goals you have for this paper? You need to be specific. What three things will you do better this time around?

1.

2.

3.